Car companies were coming up with new technology, while Ford was placing an order for nearly 20,000 autonomous vehicles. All the while, U.S. average fuel economy languished, standing at just under 27 miles per gallon. The Trump administration's recent rollbacks could drop that to about 25 mpg by 2025, on the eve of its first deadline. There's a real feeling of love throughout the book, and the story flows beautifully. The romance is so well done, and I was a little worried about how a book that was written as a continuation of a TV show would work, but it flows wonderfully. The ending of this book was my favorite part of the book, and this continued in the TV show, and is more in line with the original TV show. Fantastic read! The story has many twists and turns, and there are scenes that will make you laugh. My favorite thing about this book is its variety, and that it is part two of a TV series.
